Lancaster at War by Mike Garbett and Brian Golding. 1971 Second impression. In 1971 Ian Allan published the first of its 'at War' books which combined personal reminiscences and unpublished photographs to produce not just a history but an evocation of what it was really like to fight in and with aircraft during World War 2. Since then there have been over 50 'at War' books published - on aviation, naval and army subjects - and the series had been widely acclaimed throughout the world. The first 'at War' publication chose as its subject the most successful heavy bomber of World War 2, an aircraft that made no less than 156,000 sorties over enemy territory and dropped a total of 608,612 tons of bombs - the mighty Avro Lancaster. Lancaster at War proved an immediate best seller and has been reprinted steadily over the years. Part of this success is attributable, obviously, to the authors who scoured the world for 20 years to find the stories and photographs for this nostalgic symposium. But the major reason behind this success story is the impact and abilities of the Lancaster itself. A classic aircraft, revered by air and ground crew alike, the Lancaster was a devastating weapon of war which was used to the greatest effect during the long bombing campaign over Germany. Lancaster at War- with a foreword by Sir Arthur 'Bomber' Harris - pays tribute to the aircraft, and the men who flew and serviced the finest bomber of World War 2. Good condition Est. £20 - 30

- 290 - WW2 RAF Two Battle of Britain pilots signed Ten Squadrons of Hurricanes book. Two loose bookplates signed by Wg Cdr J Tim Elkington 1 sqn and Sqn Ldr Tony Pickering 501 sqn. Both squadrons have chapters in the book and are both mentioned. Wg Cdr John Francis Elkington, always known as 'Tim', was born in Warwickshire in 1920, and after attending Bedford School was trained to fly at RAF Cranwell, joining 1 Squadron at RAF Northolt, now Greater London in 1940 aged 19. On 15 August he shot down a Bf 109 and the following day was chasing a solitary Bf 109 towards the coast when his Hurricane was hit in the fuel tank, forcing him to bale out. He safely descended near Chichester and recovered from his injuries at the local hospital. He was back with his unit within days and on 9 October probably destroyed a Ju 88 and then on the 27th sent a Dornier 215 crashing into the Channel. By August 1941, following the German invasion of the Soviet Union, he set sail with 134 Squadron, as part of 151 Wing, to operate Hurricanes in the Murmansk area providing tutelage on the type for Soviet aircrew. Between September and October Elkington bravely served as a bomber escort where he shared in the destruction of a Ju 88. By mid-November 134 Squadron had returned to England. Tony Pickering. In February 1941 Tony took up a post as a Hurricane test pilot at the Maintenance Unit at Hawarden and then, after being commissioned in December 1941, he became an instructor at No 57 (Hurricane) OTU. He returned to operations in February 1943 when he joined 131 Squadron as a Flight Commander; he served with the squadron until January 1944. From then on he held various appointments in the Exeter Sector, such as Controller and Gunnery Officer. In February 1945 he was posted to the Middle East and became a Squadron Commander at the Bombing and Gunnery School at El Ballah. He returned to the UK in December 1945 and was released from the RAF later that month as a Squadron Leader. The Book - For many years the importance and contribution of the Hawker Hurricane was eclipsed by the Spitfire but statistically the Hurricane was superior in the majority of cases. Thanks to Tommy Sopwith's initiative and gamble the Hurricane was ready at the outbreak of the Second World War and in service throughout. As this superbly researched book reveals by examining the roles, actions and personalities of ten Hurricane squadrons, this iconic aircraft was not only exceptionally robust but astonishingly versatile. We track its performance from the Battle of France and Britain through the Middle East, Italy and on to Burma. It excelled as day and night interceptor, intruder and importantly as a rocket firing tank buster. The Hurricane inspired great loyalty among its pilots and their colourful personalities and thrilling experiences make this splendid book an informative and entertaining read. Good condition Est. £14 - 16

Captain Eric Melrose "Winkle" Brown, CBE, DSC, AFC, Hon FRAeS (21 January 1920 - 21 February 2016) was a British Royal Navy officer and test pilot who flew 487 types of aircraft, more than anyone else in history. Brown held the world record for the most aircraft carrier deck take-offs and landings performed (2,407 and 2,271 respectively) and achieved several "firsts" in naval aviation, including the first landings on an aircraft carrier of a twin-engined aircraft, an aircraft with a tricycle undercarriage, a jet aircraft, and a rotary-wing aircraft. Brown flew almost every category of Royal Navy and Royal Air Force aircraft: glider, fighter, bomber, airliner, amphibian, flying boat and helicopter. During the Second World War, he flew many types of captured German, Italian, and Japanese aircraft, including new jet and rocket aircraft. He was a pioneer of jet technology into the postwar era.
